MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION

The Court has already ruled that Plaintiff Arjun Vasan (“Plaintiff” or “Vasan”) does not have standing to challenge Defendant Checkmate.com, Inc. (“Checkmate” or “Defendant”)’s Motion to Enforce and Compel Compliance with Subpoena to Vasan Varadarajan and for Contempt (the “Motion to Compel,” Dkt. 101). See Dkt. 85 at 3 (“Plaintiff has not adequately demonstrated that he has standing to challenge the Vasan subpoena given that he has not shown with actual evidence, as opposed to argument, that he is seeking to protect his own privileged documents.”). Rather than heed the Court’s clear ruling, Plaintiff has persisted in filing his present Opposition (Dkts. 104 and 111) to Checkmate’s Motion to Compel. Even if Plaintiff had standing to challenge Checkmate’s subpoena to Mr. Varadarajan—he does not—his Opposition nevertheless fails to show any grounds to quash or modify the valid subpoena. Instead, Plaintiff’s Opposition merely reiterates baseless and irrelevant arguments from Plaintiff’s other pending Motions to Strike Affirmative Defenses (Dkt. 79), Dismiss Counterclaims (Dkt. 81), and to Compel Discovery (Dkt. 113) in an improper last-ditch effort to prove the merits of his case in a piecemeal fashion. The Court should not countenance this attempt to circumvent the law and proper procedure.

Perhaps even more damningly, Plaintiff’s Opposition is the latest collaborative attempt by Plaintiff and Mr. Varadarajan to avoid Mr. Varadarajan’s clear obligation to comply with a validly-issued and -served subpoena. See § III.D and n.2 infra. In “assisting” Mr. Varadarajan—as both Plaintiff (Dkt. 111 at 2:16-18) and Mr. Varadarajan (Dkt. 115 at ii:1-3) have admitted—Plaintiff has advised and purported to represent Mr. Varadarajan in this case, constituting an unlawful practice of law that is both interfering with these proceedings and directly placing Mr. Varadarajan in harm’s way.

1 Plaintiff's continued attempts to interfere with discovery should thus be 2 rejected.

3 II. ARGUMENT

4 A. Plaintiff Has No Standing To Challenge The Subpoena To Mr.
5 Varadarajan

6 "Ordinarily a party has no standing to seek to quash a subpoena issued to 7 someone who is not a party to the action, unless the objecting party claims some 8 personal right or privilege with regard to the documents sought." Crispin v. Christian 9 Audigier, Inc., 717 F. Supp. 2d 965, 973 (C.D. Cal. 2010) (quoting 9A Charles 10 Wright & Arthur Miller, FEDERAL PRACTICE & PROCEDURE, § 2459 (3d ed.
11 2008)); see also California Sportfishing Prot. All. v. Chico Scrap Metal, Inc., 299 12 F.R.D. 638, 643 (E.D. Cal. 2014) ("The general rule ... is that a party has no standing 13 to quash a subpoena served upon a third party, except as to claims of privilege relating 14 to the documents being sought.") (citation omitted). "The movant[] bears the burden 15 of establishing a personal right or privilege in the information sought." Terteryan v.
16 Nissan Motor Acceptance Corp., No. CV 16-2029-GW (KS), 2017 WL 3576844, at 17 *2 (C.D. Cal. July 5, 2017).

18 As an initial matter, the Court has already ruled that Plaintiff lacks standing to 19 challenge Checkmate's Subpoena to Mr. Varadarajan (see generally Dkt. 80 "Ex 20 Parte Application to Quash Subpoenas") and explicitly determined he lacks the 21 requisite standing to do so. See Dkt. 85 at 3 ("Plaintiff has not adequately 22 demonstrated that he has standing to challenge the Vasan subpoena given that he has 23 not shown with actual evidence, as opposed to argument, that he is seeking to protect 24 his own privileged documents."). Plaintiff's current Opposition simply reprises 25 previously rejected arguments and should be denied for the same reasons.

26 Plaintiff's present filing is a repetition of earlier arguments without any new 27 evidentiary support. Plaintiff has not established that the subpoena seeks personal or 28 privileged information about himself in particular. He generally asserts that the 1 subpoena “seeks ‘private family communications.’” Dkt. 111 at 2:2. He further 2 claims that the subpoena “brings AV’s brother and mother into scope” (id. at 2:3), 3 “[i]t would include family disputes, concern of parents for children and vice versa, 4 medical and financial issues and so on” (id. at 2:5-6), and that “[i]t directly targets

5 AV’s health.” Id. at 2:6. None of these alleged concerns implicate Plaintiff’s 6 privileged information. Plaintiff makes a blanket assertion that “[m]any categories 7 concern prior employer, transaction or financial information that may be attorney- 8 client or accountant-privileged: for AV, VV and others.” Id. at 2:13-14. Such a 9 speculative statement, unsupported by any actual evidence, is not enough to establish 10 the required threshold showing that a party must make in order to establish that a 11 privilege or personal right applies.

12 Furthermore, Plaintiff’s pro se status does not afford him the right to invoke 13 attorney–client privilege over communications with Mr. Varadarajan. See United 14 States v. Richey, 632 F.3d 559, 566 (9th Cir. 2011) (citing Upjohn Co. v. United 15 States, 449 U.S. 383, 389, 101 S.Ct. 677, 66 L.Ed.2d 584 (1981)) (“The attorney-16 client privilege protects confidential communications between attorneys and 17 clients, which are made for the purpose of giving legal advice.”) (emphasis added).
18 To the extent Plaintiff claims that “many categories” concern “AV, VV and others” 19 (Dkt. 111 at 2:13-14), Plaintiff fails to establish or identify with any specificity 20 documents or communications involving a licensed attorney or attempt to describe 21 any such documents or communications exchanged. The “party asserting the 22 attorney-client privilege has the burden of establishing the relationship and the 23 privileged nature of the communication.” Eastman v. Thompson, 594 F. Supp. 3d 24 1156, 1175 (C.D. Cal. 2022) (citation omitted) (emphasis in original). Further, “[t]he 25 party must assert the privilege ‘as to each record sought to allow the court to rule 26 with specificity.’” Id. (quoting Clarke v. Am. Com. Nat. Bank, 974 F.2d 127, 129 (9th 27 Cir. 1992)). Plaintiff’s conclusory assertion of “privilege” does not satisfy the 28 threshold showing that a party must make in order to establish that a privilege applies.

1 See In re Grand Jury Witness, 695 F.2d 359, 362 (9th Cir. 1982) (“[B]lanket
2 assertions of privilege [to a subpoena], are extremely disfavored.”). Reminiscent of 3 his rejected Ex Parte Application to Quash Subpoenas (Dkt. 80), Plaintiff offers only 4 generalized, conclusory statements, which do not satisfy his burden to show a 5 personal privilege or privacy right sufficient to challenge a third-party subpoena. See 6 Dkt. 85 at 3-4 (“Plaintiff nowhere claims that the sought documents involve counsel 7 or demonstrates with actual evidence that they otherwise impeded on a protectable 8 privacy right personal to him.”).

9 B. Plaintiff’s Blanket Work-Product Assertion Fails

10 Plaintiff’s Opposition blanketly claims that he can avail himself of the work-11 product doctrine because it applies equally to pro se litigants. See Dkt. 111 at 2:14-12 10, n.2. However, “[u]nlike the protection afforded by the attorney-client privilege, 13 the protection afforded by the work product doctrine is not absolute.” Intex
14 Recreation Corp. v. Bestway (USA), Inc., No. CV 19-8596-JAK(EX), 2023 WL
15 6193018, at *3 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 8, 2023). “The work-product rule is not a privilege 16 but a qualified immunity protecting from discovery documents and tangible things 17 prepared by a party or his representative in anticipation of litigation.” Admiral Ins.
18 Co. v. U.S. Dist. Ct., 881 F.2d 1486, 1494 (9th Cir. 1989) (citing Fed. R. Civ. P.
19 26(b)(3)) (emphasis added); see also In re Grand Jury Subpoena (Mark Torf/Torf 20 Env’t Mgmt.), 357 F.3d 900, 907 (9th Cir. 2004) (quoting In re California Pub. Utils.
21 Comm’n, 892 F.2d 778, 780–81 (9th Cir.1989)) (“[T]o qualify for protection against 22 discovery under [Rule 26(b)(3)], documents must have two characteristics: (1) they 23 must be ‘prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial,’ and (2) they must be 24 prepared ‘by or for another party or by or for that other party’s representative.’ ”).

25 “Although the rule affords special protections for work-product that reveals an 26 attorney’s mental impressions and opinions, other work-product materials 27 nonetheless may be ordered produced upon an adverse party’s demonstration of 28 substantial need or inability to obtain the equivalent without undue hardship.”

1 Admiral Ins. Co., 881 F.2d at 1494 (citation omitted); Intex Recreation Corp., 2023
2 WL 6193018, at *3 (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3)) (“Discovery may be 3 appropriate if the party seeking disclosure of work product material demonstrates 4 ‘substantial need for the material and an inability ‘without undue hardship to obtain 5 the substantial equivalent of the [material] by other means.’ ”). However, “[b]ecause 6 the work product doctrine is intended only to guard against the divulging of 7 attorney’s strategies and legal impressions, it does not protect facts concerning the 8 creation of work product or facts contained within the work product.” Garcia v. City 9 of El Centro, 214 F.R.D. 587, 591 (S.D. Cal. 2003) (citation omitted) (emphasis in 10 original). Thus, “[o]nly when a party seeking discovery attempts to ascertain facts, 11 which inherently reveal the attorney’s mental impression, does the work product 12 protection extend to the underlying facts.” Id.; see also Simmons v. Adams, No. 1:10-13 CV-01259-LJO, 2013 WL 2995274, at *2 (E.D. Cal. June 14, 2013) (denying 14 objection to discovery request “on the basis of ‘pro se plaintiff work product’” 15 because the information sought “concern[ed] very basic facts relevant to Plaintiff’s 16 claim.”).

17 Plaintiff’s objection based on work product fails at the threshold. He asserts, 18 without any specificity, that Checkmate’s subpoena seeks unspecified “litigation 19 materials,” including “opinion work-product,” yet he identifies no particular request 20 that purportedly seeks such materials. See Dkt. 111 at 2:14-16 (“More troubling is 21 the request for litigation materials, which include opinion work-product and would 22 confer collateral benefit unrelated to claims or defenses.”). It is Plaintiff’s burden to 23 demonstrate that the work-product doctrine applies to particular documents, 24 including by identifying the requests at issue, and establishing that they were 25 prepared in anticipation of litigation. He does none of this.

26 As indicated above, the work-product doctrine is not absolute, and Plaintiff’s 27 pro se status does not cloak all of his documents or communications with Mr.
28 Varadarajan with protection. Plaintiff offers no evidentiary basis to show that any

1 responsive documents or communication were prepared in anticipation of litigation, 2 and he makes no effort to describe the character of the documents or communications 3 which he vaguely claims are protected. He thus fails to meet his burden to show that 4 the doctrine applies to any request in Checkmate's subpoena or that any documents 5 were prepared in anticipation of litigation. His blanket, unsupported assertion is 6 insufficient and should be rejected.

7 C. Plaintiff Lacks Standing To Assert Relevance Or Burden
8 Objections To The Subpoena Directed To Mr. Varadarajan

9 Plaintiff's Opposition baselessly reiterates irrelevant arguments regarding 10 Plaintiff's other pending Motions to Strike Affirmative Defenses (Dkt. 79), Dismiss 11 Counterclaims (Dkt. 81), and to Compel Discovery (Dkt. 113) in a futile attempt to 12 distract the Court from the core issue: Mr. Varadarajan's non-compliance with 13 Checkmate's validly issued subpoena. In his piecemeal Opposition, Plaintiff further 14 incorporates arguments to quash or modify the subpoena based on relevance, 15 overbreadth, or undue burden, all which can easily be dismissed as he lacks standing 16 to assert such arguments. See Eclat Pharms., LLC v. W.-Ward Pharm. Corp., No.
17 CV136252JAKPLAX, 2014 WL 12607663, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 26, 2014) (citation 18 omitted) ("[T]he general rule is that a party has no standing to quash a subpoena 19 served upon a third party, except as to claims of privilege relating to the documents 20 being sought."); Jiae Lee v. Dong Yeoun Lee, No. CV 19-8814 JAK (PVCX), 2020 21 WL 7890868, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Oct. 1, 2020) ("[O]nly the party to which the subpoena 22 is directed has standing to object to the requests on the grounds that they are 23 irrelevant, vague, overbroad, duplicative, unduly burdensome."); see also Castillo v.
24 City of Los Angeles, No. 2:20-CV-04257-JAK-JC, 2021 WL 8895084, at *3 (C.D.
25 Cal. Dec. 13, 2021) ("A party [] lacks standing to object a subpoena served on a third 26 party on grounds of relevance, overbreadth, or undue burden."); Perez v. Orange
27 Cnty. Sheriffs Dep't, No. 8:22-CV-02229-FWS (JDEX), 2023 WL 8074345, at *3 28

1 (C.D. Cal. June 26, 2023) (“[A] party lacks standing to object a subpoena served on 2 a third party on grounds of undue burden.”).

3 Despite Plaintiff’s clear lack of standing to quash or modify the subpoena 4 based on relevance, overbreadth, or undue burden, Checkmate maintains such 5 objections are meritless as the subpoena is narrowly tailored and relevant to both 6 parties’ claims and defense in this action. To avoid burdening the Court with 7 rehashing the detailed basis for same, Checkmate respectfully refers the Court to its 8 moving papers (Dkt. 101 at 10-13) and the arguments set forth in its Opposition to 9 Vasan Varadarajan’s Motion for Protective Order and to Quash of Modify Subpoena.
10 (Dkt. 112 at 6-9, 12-16). Thus, there is no basis to modify or quash the subpoena on 11 the grounds of overbreadth, irrelevance, or undue burden.

12 D. Plaintiff Fails To Meet His “Heavy Burden” For A Stay Of 13 Discovery

14 A district court has discretionary authority to stay proceedings. Lockyer v.
15 Mirant Corp., 398 F.3d 1098, 1109 (9th Cir. 2005). “It is well-established that a party 16 seeking a stay of discovery carries the heavy burden of making a strong showing why 17 discovery should be denied.” United States v. ScribeAmerica, LLC, No. 2:21-CV-18 04324-FLA (ASX), 2024 WL 6085688, at *1 (C.D. Cal. Nov. 4, 2024) (citation 19 omitted); see also Skellerup Indus. Ltd. v. City of Los Angeles, 163 F.R.D. 598, 600 20 (C.D. Cal. 1995) (“The moving party must show a particular and specific need for 21 the protective order, as opposed to making stereotyped or conclusory statements.”).
22 “The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure do not provide for automatic or blanket stays 23 of discovery when a potentially dispositive motion is pending.” In re Pandora Media, 24 LLC Copyright Litig., No. 222CV00809MCSMAR, 2023 WL 2661192, at *1 (C.D.
25 Cal. Jan. 31, 2023); see also Skellerup Indus. Ltd., 163 F.R.D. at 601 (concluding 26 that staying discovery simply because a dispositive motion is pending would be 27 “directly at odds with the need for expeditious resolution of litigation”) (internal 28 quotation marks omitted).

1 Plaintiff merely asserts, without substantiation, that discovery should be stayed 2 because “[t]he 12(b)(6) motion has been fully briefed” (Dkt. 111 at 3:15) and 3 “[s]taying non-party discovery until plausibility prejudices no party, regardless of 4 theory.” Id. at 10:3-4. These conclusory statements do not justify a stay of discovery.
5 Furthermore, Plaintiff utterly fails to establish that Checkmate will be unable to state 6 a claim for relief to support a stay – because he cannot. (Dkt. 71 (“Counterclaims”)).
7 See Wood v. McEwen, 644 F.2d 797, 801 (9th Cir. 1981) (citation omitted) (“A 8 district court may limit discovery ‘for good cause’, Rule 26(c)(4), Federal Rules of 9 Civil Procedure, and may continue to stay discovery when it is convinced that the 10 [party] will be unable to state a claim for relief.”); Foster v. Puma N. Am., Inc., No.
11 2:23-CV-09372-FLA (SKX), 2024 WL 4414871, at *1 (C.D. Cal. July 16, 2024)) 12 (“[A] general stay of discovery is only appropriate where the Court is convinced that 13 all claims will be dismissed.”) (citation omitted). Furthermore, as detailed in 14 Checkmate’s moving papers, even if the Court were to grant Plaintiff’s Second 15 Motion to Dismiss (Dkt. 81) – which it should not for reasons set forth in 16 Checkmate’s Opposition to Plaintiff’s Second Motion to Dismiss (Dkt. 94) – the 17 testimony and documents sought by Checkmate in the subpoena are specifically 18 tailored and directly relevant to the claims and defenses of both Plaintiff and 19 Checkmate. Thus, under any outcome on Plaintiff’s Second Motion to Dismiss, the 20 subpoena maintains its relevancy. Plaintiff has clearly failed to meet his burden to 21 justify a stay of discovery and his request should be denied.

22 E. Plaintiff Is Interfering With Discovery And Engaged In The 23 Unauthorized Practice Of Law

24 It is axiomatic that “[n]o person shall practice law in California unless the 25 person is an active member of the State Bar.” Bus. & Prof. Code § 6125.

26
27 “Any person advertising or holding himself or herself out as practicing 28 or entitled to practice law or otherwise practicing law who is not an active licensee of the State Bar, or otherwise authorized pursuant to statute or court rule to practice law in this state at the time of doing so,

1 is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by up to one year in a county 2 jail or by a fine of up to one thousand dollars ($1,000), or by both that 3 fine and imprisonment.”

4 Id. § 6126(a) (emphasis added).

5 “California classifies the unauthorized practice of law as criminal.” United 6 States v. Clark, 4 F. Supp. 2d 940, 942 n.5 (C.D. Cal. 1998) (denying motion to 7 dismiss where law school graduate, never admitted to practice law, was charged with 8 the unauthorized practice of law for representing military personnel at court martial 9 proceedings). The unauthorized practice of law is not only a misdemeanor, it is also 10 a contempt of court. See Bus. & Prof. Code § 6127 (stating that “[a]dvertising or 11 holding oneself out as practicing or as entitled to practice law or otherwise practicing 12 law in any court, without being an active licensee of the State Bar” is an “act[] or 13 omission[] in respect to the practice of law” that “are contempts of the authority of 14 the courts”); see also Cappiello, Hofmann & Katz v. Boyle, 105 Cal. Rptr. 2d 147, 15 151 (Ct. App. 2001) (“[O]ffering legal services is committing a misdemeanor under 16 Business and Professions Code section 6126, and contempt of court under Business 17 and Professions Code section 6127.”). “Pursuant to California law, a judge is 18 empowered to hold persons in contempt, and to punish such contempt summarily 19 when it occurs in the judge’s presence.” Wolfgram v. Wong, No. C-94-3063 EFL, 20 1995 WL 56597, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 3, 1995) (citing Cal.Civ.Proc.Code §§ 1209).

21 There are “two public interests [that] underlie § 6126’s restriction against 22 unlicensed practice of law.” Clark, 4 F. Supp. 2d at 943. “First, California has an 23 interest in requiring attorneys to be licensed so the public is protected from being 24 advised and represented by unqualified persons,” and “[s]econd, California has an 25 interest in stopping the unlicensed practice of law to protect the integrity of the 26 judicial process.” Id. (citations omitted). “In furtherance of these two public interests, 27 the unlicensed practice of law in California is prohibited, not simply regulated.” Id.

28 While Plaintiff is entitled to represent himself, he may not under any

1 circumstances do what he is doing here: furnish legal advice or draft legal documents
2 on behalf of another person. Plaintiff's conduct is particularly egregious not only 3 because the unauthorized practice of law is a misdemeanor in California but because 4 it has been undertaken for the express purpose of interfering with discovery and 5 helping his own case at the expense of his father's interests – a glaring conflict of 6 interest.

7 Notwithstanding explicit warnings from Checkmate's counsel regarding the 8 consequences of engaging in the unauthorized practice of law (see Makitalo Decl. at 9 ¶¶ 2-6, Exs. 1-2), Plaintiff has persisted. Plaintiff's pro se status does not confer any 10 authority to represent, advise, or prepare filings on behalf of his family members. See 11 Tardiff v. State Bar, 27 Cal. 3d 395, 402, 612 P.2d 919, 922 (1980) (holding that 12 where a disbarred attorney "signed pleadings, made court appearances and entered 13 into a settlement agreement as 'attorney' for his wife" and "helped a former neighbor 14 prepare an answer in her eviction proceeding and phoned opposing counsel to obtain 15 an extension of time for her to file her answer," these actions "constituted 16 unauthorized practice of law"). Plaintiff has conceded using AI to prepare his own 17 filings,¹ resulting in meritless motions with fabricated AI citations, among numerous 18 other deficiencies.² However, familiarity with AI technology is not a substitute for a 19 license to practice law. The public interest demands protection from unqualified 20 individuals providing legal advice. Clark, 4 F. Supp. 2d at 943. It is no surprise that 21 Mr. Varadarajan's Opposition (Dkt. 115) to Checkmate's Motion to Compel is little 22 ¹ See Dkt. 111 at 2:20 n.2 (hyperlinking to a webpage for "app.midpage.ai").

23 ² Plaintiff's earlier-filed Opposition (Dkt. 104) to Checkmate's Motion to Compel 24 contains a number of seemingly-hallucinated quotations. See, for example, Dkt. 104 25 at 5:17-18 and 5:22-26 (ascribing quotations to cases which do not contain the quoted 26 language). Plaintiff's "assistance" appears to have also resulted in fabricated citations 27 in Mr. Varadarajan's Opposition (Dkt. 115), as that briefing also contains 28 purportedly-quoted language that does not appear in either of the cited cases. See Dkt. 115 at 6:1-3 (quoting two different cases as stating that non-party discovery must be "limited to protect third parties," language that does not appear in either case). The earlier Opposition and Mr. Varadarajan's Opposition therefore both appear to be examples of Plaintiff's reliance on seemingly AI-hallucinated citations.
See, for example, Dkt. 94 at 4:13 n.3 (identifying non-existent cases relied upon in Plaintiff's briefing) and Dkt. 32 at 4:16-23 (same).

1 more than a repurposed filing of Plaintiff's pending Motions to Strike Affirmative
2 Defenses (Dkt. 79), Dismiss Counterclaims (Dkt. 81), and to Compel Discovery
3 (Dkt. 113), as well as Plaintiff's own Opposition (Dkt. 111), demonstrating 4 unauthorized practice of law and undermining the judicial process.

5 Plaintiff's actions violate state statutory provisions governing the practice of 6 law, harm the judicial process, subordinate Mr. Varadarajan's interests to his own 7 and deprive Mr. Varadarajan of the right to actual advice about his actual rights and 8 obligations under the actual law from competent, regulated, educated and licensed 9 counsel.

10 III. CONCLUSION

11 For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff's Opposition should be rejected in its 12 entirety.
